

M.A. German as a Foreign Language

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

2026

Sur Place Scholarships for MA German as a Foreign Language for the Academic Year 2026/27

APPLICATION DEADLINE

13th of June

[23:59 Jordan Time]

The Magdeburg-Stendal University of Applied Sciences is granting scholarships for the most meritorious MA German as a Foreign Language students out of funds provided by the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD). The scholarships are granted per year and may be extended each subsequent year of the studies under the condition that the performance of the scholarship holders stays consistently above average (GPA above 80%) and that funds provided by the DAAD remain available.

Course of Study

The study at GJU begins in October of each year (the first semester of the academic year) and lasts for four semesters.

The scholarship is only covering the costs of studies at GJU in Jordan for one year. The semester optionally taken in Germany is not covered by the scholarship. An additional fund might cover also living costs and travel costs for studying a semester in Germany. This is separate from this call. Additional semesters at GJU might be covered by an extension of the scholarship.

Classes take place in the evenings and on Saturdays at GJU campus Jabal Amman in Amman. A high degree of self-study is required.

Degree

It is possible to choose between the Thesis-Track and the Non-Thesis-Track. Applicants are asked to specify the desired track in their application.

Notes

- If the academic requirements for the Thesis-Track are not met during the first two semesters, the faculty will refuse admission to the master's thesis. The master's study must then be completed in the Non-Thesis Track (Comprehensive Track).
- There is no automatic right to a doctorate. Graduates must independently seek recognition of their studies in their home countries. For a doctorate in Germany, students typically need to independently find a doctoral supervisor and obtain admission for the doctorate. Excellent graduates at GJU, in collaboration with PH Freiburg, have the opportunity for a doctorate in the field of German as a Foreign Language.

In the Comprehensive Track, students take more practice-oriented courses and complete the study with and a 20-30-pages project work followed by a comprehensive exam.
