10 Years GJU

Yearbook Class of 2015

In November 2011, His Majesty King Abdullah II met with the German Chancellor Angela Merkel in Berlin, and discussed the means to foster bilateral ties in different fields. His Majesty voiced satisfaction over the level of cooperation between Jordan and Germany and the successful project of the German JordanianUniversity. He said: "Dear Chancellor Merkel, I can say that I am very satisfied with our cooperation on a bilateral level. Above all, with such successful projects as the German Jordanian University, this is certainly one of the most successful projects I have seen in my country in the past ten years. We hope that we can move forward on this basis even further".

EDITORIAL BOARD

Dear graduates...

It is such a pleasant coincidence that we are celebrating your graduation this year while we are celebrating our 10th anniversary. I would like to congratulate you and your families for your achievements, which qualified you to be graduates of the German Jordanian University, and because you wanted to be distinguished, and you performed consistently within our excellence value system.

Our University is relatively new in comparison to other Jordanian Universities. However, it was able during a short period to offer a new model, and to create a success story in the higher education in Jordan, and perhaps in the region. Our core value system is that higher education should support social and economic development and prosperity. Within this context, GJU has adopted the German model of applied education.

We also believe that excellence is not about being a legend or doing heroic acts. It is about the value of quality in what humans do; the continuous striving to have a better life for our societies; and keeping this alive in the minds of individuals, and helping them sustaining constructive attitudes, performance and contributions.

This was embedded in establishing strong links with different German academic and industrial institutions in order to create incubators for exchange of knowledge and technology through students' and professors' mobility. In this context, GJU would be proud to consider itself not only Jordan's gate to Germany, but also Jordan's gate to the developed world and to a better future. This would not have been materialized without the support and cooperation of our German partners such as, the German Ministry of Education and Research, DAAD, Hochschule Magdeburg-Stendal, the German Embassy in Jordan and more than 90 German universities with which we enjoy successful partnerships. To all of those, I express my gratitude and sincere appreciation.

Dear graduates...

I hope that your future visions will help in reshaping the way we see ourselves and communicate with our identity, which has encountered the challenges of oscillating between globalization, with its dues, and the inherited mentality of the society. We have no choice but to have an excellent education and qualified skilled graduates to help us face these challenges. With pride, I am happy to say that the excellent reputation that GJU enjoys, and the very high percentage of employment rate within our graduates are strong indicators of the excellence of this University, where GJU is truly participating in qualifying its students as leaders who can reshape our future. We count on you to develop our society, and hope that you would enable us to bridge the gaps between the way we think and that of the developed world. Congratulations Class of 2015, I wish you all the best wherever you go and whatever you do.

Vice President

Congratulations! It's again the time for graduation.

It is an honor for me to be the Vice President of this privileged young University. This institution has been established to be a story of academic excellence and social responsibility, and we look forward to being able to preserve this legacy.

You are the agents of change; you have a great responsibility in building your country with an open mind and enlightened vision at a time where this is highly needed. I wish you all the best in your future endeavors.

My dear colleagues, I thank you all for the great efforts you put to help the students to achieve excellence and to have brought the reputation of this University to what it is now. It is great to have such devoted and cooperative colleagues, I am proud to be one of you.

Prof. Manar Fayyad

Project Director

The Project Office (PO) is based at Hochschule Magdeburg-Stendal in Germany. It is responsible for the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) grant and all the tasks involved in the administrative process.

Jordan Interior Design Association (JIDA)

Supervisor: Sandra Fadayel

The interior design competition concerns designing a booth that represents the Jordan Interior Design Association (JIDA), in a public space which will include 40 booths to accommodate several functions such as, a reception, display, beverages corner, storage, and a meeting within a specified area. JIDA believes in the importance of the students' role in the design field, and that was the key element to inspire me during the design process. It aimed to visualize JIDA's vision which is built upon three main factors; innovation, inspiration and dedication into a series of sketches and conceptual drawings which I have used to generate the architectural language of the designed booth.

The Innovative Industrial Hub

Haitham Al-Kurdi

Graduation Project, B. Sc. in Architecture, Class of 2014

Supervisor: Industrial Prof. Tha'er Qub'a

Received the:

First Place Award in the Graduation Projects Competition, 2014.

Jordanian Engineers Association

The Urbanization of Jabal Amman has caused gentrification of many of the existing industries and crafts such as, woodwork, textile and glazing workshops. The owners of these businesses had no choice but to be displaced. However, with the relocation of the School of Architecture and Built Environment, I saw a chance to salvage the local industries and revolutionize the educational process by introducing an "Innovative Industrial Hub". This project aims to bring back life to the once lively industrial strip.

Jabal Amman Artistic Hub

Basel Rihani

Graduation Project, B. Sc. in Architecture, Class of 2014 Supervisor: Industrial Prof. Tha'er Qub'a

Received the:

Second Place Award in the Graduation Projects Competition, 2014.

Jordanian Engineers Association

The project is located in Jabal Amman next SABE and Ibrahim Hashem House. The site has unique existing retaining walls, as dominant characteristic features of the area. This project investigates how to re-use the retaining walls and transform them into an interactive element through providing a contemporary architectural typology.

The Center for the Study of Natural and Cultural Heritage received:

El Hassan Bin Talal Award for Scientific Excellence 2015

In acknowledgment of the Center's efforts in advancing awareness about Jordan's vast heritage amongst school children and university students, promoting research by conducting several scientific projects and building a strong network with various institutions both in Jordan and abroad.

Dear Graduates,

Congratulations, Class of 2015. You have lived a very full and busy life since we first welcomed you to GJU five years ago. You have marked up a number of assignments, written papers, exams, and projects. You have absorbed a great deal of information very quickly and learned "to be productive."

"Top Five Happy Thoughts" for the Class of 2015:

- Think positively and don't dwell on your fears. Many of us have negative thoughts about what the future holds. But just forget about that negativity. Let it go. You've got goals; focus on them, and think positively about how you can achieve them. This positivity will guide you through the challenges you face.
- Remember your gifts. The number one gift you've been given is the Certificate you're going to receive from this University. Yes, you have paid for it so it's not necessarily a "gift". But remember, not too many people have the opportunity to receive a world-class education like you did; take your experiences and what you've learned here with you, and they won't let you down.
- Invest in yourselves. Go out and continue learning, participate in competitions, attend lectures, conferences or seminars, get out there and do whatever you can to make yourself a better person.
- Be exceptional. Go out and do more than you've ever done before. Be "better" than you've ever been before. Be persistent and unrelenting in your pursuit of excellence. Open yourself up to new opportunities, and be the best version of yourself that you can.
- Create/innovate/instigate. Use your creative energy to try something different, to look at problems in a new way, and to challenge limitations. Here you can follow your curiosity to explore new things, to encounter new ideas and opinions, and to discover your own capabilities.
- The GJU experience was demanding, but it was also eminently rewarding.

Congratulations, Class of 2015. You have earned your right to celebrate. We are very proud of you. Enjoy these momentous days and, as you go out into the world, please keep us in your hearts. You will be in ours.
